Southeast Ohio: September 17, 2021 -- Appalachian Community Capital today announced receipt of a $1,500,000 technical assistance grant from the Appalachian Regional Commission (ARC) to help bring investment into Central Appalachian communities in five states: Tennessee, North Carolina, Ohio, Virginia, and West Virginia. Ohio Southeast Economic Development (OhioSE) is a lead partner in Opportunity Appalachia, an initiative designed to provide targeted support for downtown and rural development to build entrepreneurial communities where local business can thrive, creating quality jobs for residents that revitalize local economies.

“We are thrilled to be able to bring more financial and technical resources to our region, to help Appalachia secure more investment in important industries such as manufacturing, IT, downtown development, healthcare, education, food systems, heritage tourism and recreation,” remarked Appalachian Community Capital (ACC) President & CEO Donna Gambrell, whose organization will coordinate the Opportunity Appalachia effort. She added, “With this expanded program, we expect to strengthen or help establish more than 40 businesses, which will lead to the creation of more than 3,000 new jobs and generate private investments totaling $400 mm in underserved rural communities.” Other funding partners include Goldman Sachs, Dogwood Health Trust, and other funders.

“The downturn of the coal industry has impacted economies across Appalachia. That’s why ARC’s POWER initiative helps to leverage regional partnerships and collaborations to support efforts to create a more vibrant economic future for coal-impacted communities,” said ARC Federal Co-Chair Gayle Manchin. These investments are critical in leveling the economic playing field so Appalachian communities can thrive.”

“We thank Appalachian Community Capital for this initiative and including the OhioSE region,” said Katy Farber, Vice President of OhioSE. “We look forward to continuing the good work of Opportunity Appalachia and look forward to the positive impact this program will have in the region. Thanks to ARC for the continued support of our regional efforts to bring enduring prosperity and growth to Ohio’s Appalachian counties.”
